Is it really the Voice of God?

A course being offered on Tuesday evenings over five weeks starting in early November is designed to help people discern the voice of God. Under the title: “From Wanderers to Pilgrims” the course, at the Cobourg Campus of Wycliffe College at St. Peter’s Church, aims to provide guidelines into such topics as knowing when experiences of our heart are actually God speaking, and how we can trust what we hear during those experiences. Says The Rev. Michael Calderwood, pastor at St. Paul’s Anglican Church, Brighton who will present the course, “we will see that discerning the voice of God connects us more deeply with the world around us.”

The Wycliffe courses, because of their quality and the facilities in which they take place, have drawn students from a very wide geographical area in this part of Ontario over the past ten years.

The course can be attended either for general interest or for credit under the Wycliffe Diploma in Lay Ministry program.

St. Peter’s is located opposite Cobourg’s Victoria Park on King St. East, at College St.
